

POST-RISK

by: Kylie Ayn Yockey

Scope

My red-hot embarrassment blushes across borders averts—magnetizes—
secondhand eyes to opposite poles shame showers arid plains

Intensity

I want to spin Earth into its reverse rotation vertigo the world
counterwise clock hands

Probability

Only I will end up turned over though rolled into the hole I shoveled myself

